

Association for Advancement in Combinatorial Sciences

Association for Advancement in Combinatorial Sciences (AACCS) plays crucial role in promoting, recognizing and publishing in the area of research. AACCS publish journals, books, organize discussions and bring out proceedings. As per the current editorial policy for the journals, we promote high quality research work that contributes in the area of Mathematical Sciences, Applied Sciences, Humanities & Social Sciences, Education & Allied Sciences, Operations Research & Optimization, Stability & Fluid Mechanics, Art and Commerce, Biomedical & Life Sciences, Engineering, Information Sciences, Inventory Control & Management etc. The research subject should be clearly related with ongoing research by providing proper reference to the recent literature. Each submission will be properly referred and only then will be considered for publication. Apart from research papers, there shall be three separate categories for special papers, termed as invited review, case studies and short communication.
